PROGRAM NOTE

Near the end of Dvořák's forty-minute Piano Quintet in A major, there emerges a beautiful and plainspoken melody, almost childlike in its simplicity. I was so moved by this simple four-bar tune when I first heard it at a concert that, upon arriving home, I immediately wrote it down in my sketchbook. When asked to compose a piece that would be performed on a concert featuring a work by Dvořák, I knew at once that I would compose a fantasy inspired by this melody, and hopefully prolong its beauty beyond the four measures it is allotted in the Quintet.

The musical score is written for two systems. The first system consists of two staves. The top staff is in treble clef and the bottom staff is in bass clef. Both staves have a 3/2 time signature. The top staff contains a half note G4 and a half rest. The bottom staff contains a half note G2 and a half rest. The second system also consists of two staves. The top staff is in treble clef and the bottom staff is in bass clef. Both staves have a 3/2 time signature. The top staff contains a half note G4 and a half rest. The bottom staff contains a half note G2 and a half rest. The key signature has one sharp (F#). The tempo is marked 'rit. al fine' at the beginning of the first system and 'rit. al fine' at the beginning of the second system. The dynamic is marked 'pp' at the end of the second system. A pedal point is indicated by '(Ped.)' at the beginning of the first system and a line extending to the end of the second system. An octave transposition is indicated by '8va' with a dashed line above the treble staff in the second system.
